

WE ARE PROUD

We are proud of Charlie! Charlie has picked up a few more internship jobs and is increasing his time he works. Charlie is always on time. He logs in when he arrives at his shift and logs out when he is done. We are proud of Charlie in his willingness to try new things. Charlie has been a huge asset to the library and we are so incredibly thankful for his work. You Rock!

Transition and Access Program @ NDSU

What's Happening?

I feel a common theme when it's time to write the newsletter. Wow, February went by so fast. I'm a day late in completing the newsletter!

This month has included volunteer experience at Hope Blooms. If you every have a chance to sign up, it's a really great experience for a wonderful cause. The atmosphere is very calm and relaxing and the flowers are beautiful.

We have been in full force attending sporting events. This month the basketball team hosted a sensory friendly basketball game. NDSU students who participate in the TAP program, were honored by walking out to the half court during a time out. What a fun experience. We continue to work the ticket taking sales and hope for more opportunities when spring sports start.

This semester we have a student attending one of the campus building downtown. A great opportunity to ride the NDSU bus and practice skills. We are thankful for the multiple modes of transportation, and the really great winter, for those who love to ride their bikes around campus.

We were the host for the elementary ed club meeting and really enjoyed providing a craft for their club. We look forward to our continued partnerships with this club!

Looking Ahead

- Spring Break: March 4-8. Dorms close March 1 @ 6pm.
- Dorms open March 10 at noon.
- Molly is gone March 9-16. Please contact Jordan if you need anything.
- No Class March 29 and April 1

Staff Shoutout!

A huge shout out to Andra, a very reliable peer mentor. Andra is always willing to pick up a shift and goes above and beyond. She is kind and liked by so many. Thank you so much for all you do Andra!

We appreciate you.

Seminar Class

Our social navigation and communication practice has been going very well. The month of February focused on communication strategies. We continue to talk about the importance to stay in touch with those who are apart of our journey. We focused a lot on texting and emailing our peers this month.

We also have done a lot of role playing various emotions through acting and analyzing pictures. As we head into March, we will focus on different relationships. We will be talking about how a person can build relationships along with the fact we act and talk differently based on the relationship we are participating in. This can be very challenging!

Contact Us

Molly McKinnon

ndsu.tap@ndsu.edu or

molly.mckinnon@ndsu.edu

701.231.1805

<https://www.ndsu.edu/disabilityservices/tap/>

"How we learn has nothing to do with how brilliant we are!" – Henry Winkler