

FORWARD announces faculty workshop and spring events

Published: 13 December 2013

NDSU's FORWARD project will begin spring semester events with "Enhancing Department Climate: Tips for New Faculty," scheduled for Monday, Jan. 13, 2014, from 9 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. in the Memorial Union Mandan room. During the workshop, the FORWARD group will share tips for new faculty members on a successful transition to NDSU and on promoting a more inclusive department culture to create a vibrant and fulfilling intellectual community.

Registration is requested and can be completed on the FORWARD website www.ndsu.edu/forward.

FORWARD also has a number of additional events scheduled for spring semester, including a leadership development panel, two ally trainings for male faculty, two faculty search committee trainings, a promotion to professor luncheon and a FORWARD lecture series on advancement of women faculty at NDSU. Further details about times and registration for the events, as well as other events throughout the semester, will be announced in future issues of It's Happening at State and on the FORWARD website.
