NDSU Staff Senate Presents

Encouraging Children's Growth in Social Skills

Wednesday, November 14, 2007

2:00 – 3:00 p.m.

Century Theater, Memorial Union

Sharon Query, Ph. D.

*Youth Development Specialist, NDSU Extension Service
Assistant Professor, Child Development and Family Science*

Forming friendships is one of the first tasks children undertake without their parents. Friendships between children are very complex and children usually progress through definite stages in their development of friendships and social skills.

Social skills that are necessary for healthy childhood friendships will be explored, as well as techniques for assisting children as they develop social skills.

Sponsored by the NDSU Staff Senate
Staff Development Committee
